

THE

What I claim as my invention is: A Board game called Blind Choice. It consists of 109 marbles divided into twenty-five each of blue, red, green, and yellow. Plus eight white marbles, one black marble, one die, one bag for the marbles, one board and one set of rules. The game, Blind Choice, is played on a board divided into four colored sections. Each section is triangular in shape. The object of the game is to get all your colored marbles on the board first following the rules.

I regard my invention as unique. I have never seen any other game like it. I am certain it has never been thought of before.